

YOUNG ARMY FLYER IS AMNESIA VICTIM

H. A. Gill, Jr., of Brooklyn Is Identified as Patient in Philadelphia.

HAD ACCIDENTS IN AIR

$100 of Church's Funds Safe Despite Youth's Forgotten Wanders.

Hamilton A. Gill, Jr., the former army aviator who disappeared Saturday from his home, 191 Halsey street, Brooklyn, turned up yesterday in the Cooper Hospital, Camden, N. J., a victim of amnesia. His father is now in Camden arranging to have the young man taken home.

Gill was a First Lieutenant in the Army air service and was still hopeful of being sent to Europe when the armistice was signed. Twice while a cadet in flying schools in Texas he fell, once breaking several ribs and injuring his neck. Since that time he has suffered spells of amnesia and amnesia and has been undergoing treatment at the Neurological Institute, 149 East Sixty-seventh street, Manhattan.

He is able to recall nothing of his adventures since Saturday except that he was one driving a motor car told him today night he had been in a building he failed to be. It was a strange building but he entered and found himself in the Camden Y. M. C. A. The "Y" man who questioned him, A. A. Eagle, at once took him to the hospital. His identity was established by a sailor's label on his coat.

Gill is 22 years old and was a student at Harvard when he was declared. He came to New York to attend school at Princeton and was sent to the Texas schools later. His mother said yesterday that he had experienced at least six sudden fainting attacks, and these were generally followed by brief loss of memory. On two or three occasions he fell unconscious while talking to members of his family.

Last Saturday morning Gill, who is trustee of a church organization, went to the Bedford Branch of the People's Fund Company to draw some of the church organization's funds. He obtained $100. From the time he left the bank until he was seen in Camden trace of him was lost. He produced the money from a wallet but told the hospital authorities that he had no idea from whom he had received it.

BONDY INDORSED FOR BOARD OF REGENTS

G. O. P. County Committee Votes Him Elias' Place.

William Bondy has been indorsed unanimously by the executive committee of the Republican State Convention for election to the Board of Regents of the State of New York to succeed Abram L. Elkin.

Judge Elkin was recently appointed to the Court of Appeals by Gov. Smith. Mrs. Bondy is a lawyer with offices at 142 Broadway and a home at 14 East sixtieth street, in the Fifteenth Assembly district, where he has been active in politics for some years. Mr. Bondy was born in 1875, studied law at Cornell, received the degree of Ph. D. and LL. B. Friends of Michael Friedman have been mentioning his name for the vacancy, which must be filled by election by the Legislature. Action will be taken in February.

At the special meeting of the executive committee an informal agreement was reached to nominate Bondy in view of the women for "dual representation" of the State committee. Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore explained this desire for a woman member for each main member at a recent meeting of the State committee. This would mean a woman as well as a man from each Assembly district. It would require an amendment to the election law, which will be introduced before long; it is understood.

DE KOVEN'S ESTATE TO WIDOW IN TRUST

Principal Eventually Goes to His Daughter.

De Koven, composer, who died January 16 in Chicago, left his estate in trust for his wife, Anna Farwell De Koven, and upon her death the principal is to become the property of their daughter, Mrs. Ethel De Koven Hudson of 122 Madison avenue.

The will was filed yesterday in the Surrogate's Court. It directs his executors to continue making contracts for the production of his operas upon a royalty basis and pay the income to Mrs. De Koven.
